GREET MCKINLEY

A Hundred Thousand People
Welcome Him.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM

Mid a Bower of Beautiful Flowers the President Views the Procession.

Los Angeles, May 9.—The day of the floral parade dawned gloomy and overcast, but just as the parade started the sun came out bright and warm. The president led the procession in a carriage decorated in white and yellow, and drawn by four white horses with yellow trappings. The parade was in nine divisions. It surpassed anything ever seen in Southern California. There were a hundred thousand people on the streets; every window along the route was crowded, the roofs were covered, the population of other cities of Southern California being emptied into Los Angeles. Every train this morning was packed. Everything went off without a hitch. The president was greeted everywhere with tremendous enthusiasm. He dropped out of the parade at the tribune in front of the city hall and from there reviewed the procession in a bower of fiesta colors and beautiful flowers.—Gazette.

A Kansas editor is responsible for stating in his paper. "One of our lady friends called at our office and laid one dozen eggs on our table, for which she has our thanks." Gee whiz! That beats Carrie Nation! The Lord only knows what Kansas women will do next!—W. Mail.

EDITORIAL.

President McKinley left Washington on Apr. 29 the longest trip every taken by a President of the U. S. The total distance to be traveled by June 15th, is 10,581 miles. President Harrison nearly made as long a trip in 1891, when he left Washington April 14th and returned May 15th after having traveled 9,228 miles. President McKinley, like president Harrison, opposing traveling on Sunday, except in cases of absolute necessity, and the special train will be sidetracked every Sunday during the trip, the schedule giving the following in the order named as the Sunday stopping places: San Antonio, Texas; Del Monte and San Francisco, Cal.; Spokane Wash.; Salt Lake city, Utah, and Chicago. Four members of the Cabinet, Secretaries Hay, Hitchcock and Wilson and Postmaster General Smith, left Washington with the President, and Secretary Long, who has gone to visit his daughter in Colorado, will join him before San Francisco is reached. One car of the special train is fitted out as the President's office and the presence of Secretary Cortelyou and several of the White House corps of stenographers, will make it as easy for the President to transact executive business on the train, as he could in Washington. But unless something unexpected turns up, he doesn't expect to give much time to business. There is no need for him to do so, as there is little likelihood of anything having to be disposed of before his return that cannot be handled by the three members of the Cabinet Secretaries Root and Gage and Attorney General Knox, left in Washington. In fact, the business of the government is just now largely routine, both domestic and outside.

Siftings from the President's visit in Phoenix.

PHOENIX, ARIZ., May 8.—The crowd that came to Phoenix to see President McKinley went away disappointed, and only a dozen or so shook his hand. The president's train arrived later than was expected, and the report was given circulation that the presidential party would be at the Adams hotel immediately after the arrival of the train. Great crowds gathered there, but but the president did not appear. The day was excessively hot, and the president evidently made known to the governor his wishes and as soon as the reception was over at the Capitol. A drive over the valley was taken.

The ranchers and their families came out to greet the chief executive, and cow-boys took off their sombreros as he passed along the county roads.

The crowds were disappointed in the arrangements which deprived them of seeing the President, but the business men of Phoenix are glad that the chief executive saw the valley, and became familiar with the agricultural interests, the prosperity and substantiability of the ranches, and saw with his own eyes what water can do in transforming the desert into a garden.

No doubt the President will feel a deeper interest in the reclamation of the arid wastes, and the fact that he was taken away from the crowds and put in touch with the valley and its desires, will be very much appreciated by the ranchers and the business men of this city.

The trip of the President to the Congress gold mine annoyed Phoenix from the start. The people were indignant and, when they found that the trip had disarranged the whole program of the day, they were thoroughly aroused. The crowd waited for hours beneath the broiling hot sun.

Altho the Phoenix reception committee accompanied the President to Phoenix from Congress it was evident that Governor Murphy was the one whom the President looked to for his comfort and guidance. The evening paper complained "that the service of the citizen's committee was evidently not needed," and the crowds that came from the outside towns wondered "where they were at."—Daily Citizen.

Pres. McKinley's Speech.

On the Steps of the Territorial Capitol Building.

Praises the Arizona people.

The only speech ever made in Arizona by a president of the United States.

(FROM THE GLOBE TIMES.)

"You have triumphed over many trials, you have overcome many difficulties you have done what it has been given few people to do, you have made the grass grow where it never grew before, you have field, and forest; you have mines; you have rich products from one end of your territory to the other. I am glad to make acknowledgement to the state builders here in Arizona, men who build the commonwealth that at last beomes one of the glorious states in the glorious union. I have been glad to note your splendid public improvements.

"This capitol, on the steps of which I stand to day, should be a matter of pride to the people of your territory. Your public schools, your university of learning at the old capital of the territory, you care for the unfortunate people that dwell in your midst all give evidence of that splendid civilization which you so nobly represent.

"Nor do I forget standing in this presence that when we were constrained reluctantly to go to war with Spain and a call was made for volunteers it was in this territory that the first patriotic response was made.

"This territory furnished nearly two hundred soldiers for that unique and gallant regiment of rough riders.

"And here the flag was made by noble women of Phoenix that first floated over the Spanish fortification in Cuba. What a record that regiment had. It lost some of its bravest and best at Gnasimas and at San Juan Hill, but they fell for a noble cause. The first colonel of your regiment is now successfully administering the affairs of the island as governor General Wood.

"I congratulate you upon the splendid type and character of your people and I leave with you may best wishes for their happiness and progress and that they may soon be able to show the congress of the United States that they have builded well and strongly and wisely this great territory and are prepared to be admitted into union of States." (Enthusiastic applause).

Birth Place of the American Flag.

Citizens of Apache Co.

It is with pleasure I take the liberty of calling your attention to a matter thru the columns of the Herald that may not seem of any importance to you but ought to enthrone every American Citizen to that extent they would not be satisfied until they have done their part in this matter.

In this city stands a building of interest to all citizens who appreciate the efforts of our forefathers in establishing freedom upon this continent, called the "Betsy Ross Building" or "Birth Place of Old Glory" in which the first American Flag was designed and made. This building occupies a very significant position in this city and remains the same as when Geo. Washington in connection with others meet there for the purpose above stated.

Lately this property has changed hands and in order to preserve this memorable place the following plan was devised to raise the required amount to purchase it.

Some time ago the "American Flag House and Betsy Ross Memorial Assoc." was organized with patriotic men at its head for this purpose They issue a beautiful certificate exhibiting the interior of the building in colors showing Geo. Washington Hon Geo. Ross Robt. Morris the designer Betsy Ross the maker all at work. On the left hand side is the exterior of this building and right hand is a picture of Betsy Ross' grave.

In order to gain all an equal show in this the certificates are issued to any person for the sum of ten cents thereby involving a great number of members to buy the property.

This is one deal where apulence does not over rule poverty as only one certificate is issued to the same person irrespective of his financial standing.

I have been looking over the records and in doing so find that poor Arizona has at present only thirty two members, showing by for the smallest representation of any state or territory in the union I have a warm feeling for the citizens of Ariz. especially for those who inhabit Apache Co. and cannot believe this small representation is due to their non patriotism, but on the contrary their not knowing of such an association existing. This is why I place this article in your county paper, that Arizona might at least be placed on a par, if not surpass the western states and to give all patriotic citizens a chance to receive one of these membership certificates.

To complete this negotiation it will necessitate the selling of 1,000,000 certificates of which 785,000 have already been disposed of and when the remaining 215,000 have been sold then the property is turned over to the government and becomes public property.

If any are desirous of becoming a member of this association they may by applying to O. F. Freeman agent at St. Johns.

There is a prize, a large picture of building 22 x 28 in ten colors, sent to any one getting up a club of thirty members sent free and if any desires to earn this by sending names and amount to me I will cheerfully see to the rest.

Trusting that Apache Co will do her share in augmenting the membership of Arizona. I am
